Sequence C Summary: The alternation between HIGH emotion and LIGHT relief creates dopamine addiction by story 3. Her brain learns the pattern: "I never know what's next." The final three stories (16-17-18) are a triple emotional crescendo: Awe → Peak → Peace. She puts the letter down in a state of complete surrender.

The Verdict

Sequence C creates the most INTENSE reading experience because contrast is the engine of emotion. Joy means nothing without sorrow next to it. Laughter hits harder after tears. The rollercoaster doesn’t just entertain — it BONDS her to the letter writer because she’s experiencing the full range of human emotion through his stories. By the end, she doesn’t just know facts about Sam. She’s FELT what it’s like to be near him.

She will text her friends: “You have to read this.”
